

As a licensed Amateur radio operator, I have an interest in LPFM, however I am opposed to any changes it may have on FM translators.

I rely on FM translators in my area for better coverage in areas not served by my favorite radio sources original signal. A LPFM is only going to serve the needs of very localized listeners, and ignore the listeners who need/want regional/national sources.

I am mostly speaking of a Christian broadcaster, known as KLOVE (KLVR).

Please reconsider the impact this decision will have on a vast network of translators across this country who serve the needs of a larger audience.
